Jacqueline Jonklaas, MD and Antonio C. Bianco, MD, PhD, co-chairs of the satellite symposium planning committee have designed a 4 hour CME program to present the latest information on the management of hypothyroidism. This satellite symposium (Friday, 3/31/2017 from 1:00 PM-5:30 PM) will be held just prior to the start of the Endocrine Society annual meeting in Orlando, Florida. Building on the American Thyroid Association Management Guidelines for the Treatment of Hypothyroidism published in 2014, the symposium will feature talks and panels focused on updates and new issues based on recent data. Hear new information and highlights from top experts in the field of thyroidology to support your clinical management and treatment of thyroid patients.

Join us for an excellent thyroid-focused opportunity for your early afternoon Friday arrival at the Endocrine Society annual meeting. Updates and additional details will be posted as available.
